NEWS RELEASE

(ST MICHAELS, MD – November 1, 2010)

Marie Thomas joins CBMM

Marie Thomas of Wye Mills has joined the marketing department at the Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum (CBMM) in St Michaels, Maryland.

Thomas's responsibilities include supporting an integrated, strategic marketing plan that promotes the Museum's programs, special events, exhibits, and overall visitor and member experiences. As a full-time marketing technician, Thomas assists with the production and design of marketing materials, writing editorial components, managing social media, website updates, and the promotion of special events.

Thomas brings experience as a former managing editor of a regional publication to her new position. A 2008 graduate of the University of Baltimore (UB), she earned her bachelor's degree in English, and is currently enrolled in UB's master's program for publication design. Thomas's community service has included volunteering for the Benedictine School for Exceptional Children, Maryland Special Olympics, the Arthritis Foundation, and the United Way of Central Maryland.

Through educational, cultural and interactive exhibits and activities, CBMM celebrates the connections between the Bay and its people while inspiring an understanding of and appreciation for the rich maritime heritage of the Chesapeake Bay and its tidal reaches. The Museum's campus includes ten exhibit buildings on 18 waterfront acres at Navy Point in St. Michaels.

Reach Thomas at mthomas@cbmm.org or by calling 410-745-4953.
