

Academy for Lifelong Learning at CBMM

Press Release

December 7, 2011

ALL's Annual Meeting and Winter Social Open to All Interested in Learning More About the Organization.

The Academy for Lifelong Learning (ALL) at The Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum will hold its Annual Meeting and Winter Social on Thursday January 5th, 4pm-6pm in the Van Lennep Auditorium, Steamboat Gallery on the Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum campus. The event is open to all interested in learning more about the Academy and its Winter Semester courses.

This winter ALL will offer 18 courses, tours and lectures spanning subjects as diverse as literature, ecology, health, religion, art, technology, economics and political science. There will be three courses offered late/afternoon and two at midday to accommodate all non-retired ALL members. The meeting and social are an opportunity to register for classes, meet fellow lifelong learners and enjoy refreshments.

Affiliated with The Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum in St. Michaels, MD, The Academy for Lifelong Learning is a non-profit, volunteer run organization which strives to enrich the life of the community through continuing education. For more detailed information about ALL, call the CBMM at 410-745-2916 or download the Winter Catalog online at <http://www.cbmm.org/all>. Also on Facebook at Academy for Lifelong Learning at CBMM.

Tom Hollingshead Addresses ALL Gathering (Photo by Kate Mann)